BY PAT, DICK, DUANE

Just in case YOU received a new barometer for Christmas (as Rev. J. Samuel Shelby did) and should need the information for proper setting of same, permit us to advise you of the elevation above sea level at which Belmond stands. To fulfill a request from Mr. Shelby for this bit of knowledge, we put the inquiry to Haydn Jones of the county engineer's office. The answer: 1,184 feet (average).

Haydn added that, if his recollection is correct, Belmond's highest elevation ("the hill," of course), is something like 1,215 feet.

For the benefit of barometer owners (or just plain curious folks) elsewhere in the county, Haydn provided these additional elevation figures: Rowan 1,203 (hello, up there!), Clarion 1,168, Dows 1,142, Eagle Grove 1,119, Goldfield 1,108 and Woolstock 1,119. Average for the county, 1,149 feet. Isn't it remarkable what you can learn by reading this pillar of wisdom and light? Yes, it is!

At least one Belmond family has been hauling water for home consumption ever since the city council's decision to fluoridate the municipal water supply — because the water "tastes so awful". Fact of the matter is, no fluoridation equipment has been settled upon yet by the city fathers and the time when fluoridation will actually take place is still in the indefinite future.

Dr. S. P. Leinbach, otherwise known as "Sam, the Hot-rodder" or "Get-the-Vette Sam," is tooling around town these days in a Corvette Stingray — and is quite the envy of other dignified business and professional men who wonder why they didn't think of it first.

There's one aspect of this new acquisition to which Belmond's senior physician may not have given earlier thought, however. We've heard some of his patients express themselves as less likely now to be reluctant over asking a house call — since same would simply give Sam an excuse to fold up behind the wheel of the 'Vette and "let 'er go!"

Son Bruce, home from college for the holidays, was also casting covetous eyes on the Stingray and trying to figure out how he might "do Dad out of it". The wide grin Sam wears when traveling about in the sports car suggests that he hasn't had such a ball in a long time.

Clerk of Court Bessie Johnson reports that Wright county issued 129 marriage licenses (presumably indicating an equal number of marriages), while the district court brought asunder 32 couples via divorce decrees. She couldn't tell us how this compares with years past; but at any rate it suggests that Cupid is better than holding his own in these parts. Doesn't that one divorce to every four marriages seem like kind of a high break-up ratio, though?

While Ye Ed was calling on County Auditor Ethel West on Tuesday morning, the first affidavit of candidacy and accompanying nomination papers for next June's primary election were placed on file!

The early bird was J. J. Kist, justice of the peace in and for Eagle Grove township.

This should serve as a reminder to certain absent-minded officeholders like Cecil Winbigler, J. P., that if you don't want to depend on a write-in vote, ANY TIME now will do for filing.

PETER SYMINGTON (YES, FROM SCOTLAND) AND HIS BRIDE

• • • • • •

This bride took 2nd place—

Groom looked handsome — in kilts

While the bride, carrying a bouquet of white mums, was charmingly attired in a blue, ballerina-length, waltz-gown, her attire drew decidedly less attention than that of the groom at a wedding ceremony performed here on New Year's Day.

Marie Pannkuk, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Pannkuk of Klemme and a former BHS student, was the bride. The groom was Peter Symington, lately of Edinburg, Scotland — and his garb was the traditional kilt of his homeland. Rev. R. Vander Schaff of the Immanuel Reformed church officiated at the ceremony.

Before a small group of close friends and relatives of the bride, the couple spoke their vows at the home of the bride's grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Anton Pannkuk. Sharon Sandry of Klemme was maid of honor and the bride's brother, Glen Pannkuk, was best man.

Romance entered the acquaintanceship of Peter and Marie in very short order after their first meeting at a service of the Christian church at Atlantic last August. He was employed by a farmer in that community, who had sponsored Peter's emigration to this country. Marie was employed in the home of an Atlantic family. Peter came to the U. S. last June.

When his Atlantic employer no longer needed Peter after seasonal farm work had been finished, he obtained a job on the farm of Daryl Hafermann at Thornton in early November.

Though their friendship had extended over a period of hardly three months, Marie and Peter already knew that their relationship was fated to be more than that and their engagement was announced in the Nov. 14 issue of The Independent.

They are now comfortably domiciled in the tenant house on the Hafermann farm and Peter is happily pursuing his chosen vocation of dairy herdsman.

Peter's father is headmaster of an Edinburg school, but Peter's interest has always lain in agriculture in general and dairying in particular. Before coming to the U. S. he was for 5½ years associated with a government experimental farm in England as a loan-out herdsman available to farmers needing temporary help.

Another Symington son is living in Canada and a third is with the Queen's Own Highlanders and stationed in Singapore. Peter has a younger brother and sister at home.

It is Peter's hope to become a dairy herd operator in his own right some day. He has plans for visiting his homeland two or three years from now, but has already formed an affection for this country and intends to live in the U. S.

Mr. and Mrs. Symington honeymooned at Hotel Savery in Des Moines and their presence in the capital city — Peter still attired in his skirted wedding costume — created somewhat of a stir.

The accompanying picture of Peter and his bride was taken for the Des Moines Register by staff photographer Tom Patrick in their hotel room and provided to The Independent by the Des Moines newspaper. It occupied a three-column space in last Friday's morning Register.

BERMUDA TRIP TO LUICK

Airman 3/c Gary L. Luick, son of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Luick, earned a four-day sojourn in the Bermuda Islands — Dec. 16 through 19 — as one of the top airmen at Dyess Air Force Base in Texas chosen for the month of November. He, with other USAF personnel, made the award trip in an AC-130 transport plane.

Farm tax guide now obtainable

The 1964 edition of the "Farmer's Tax Guide" is now available at the Wright county extension office, according to Aaron Bowman, extension director.

This 64-page booklet answers most questions about federal income tax problems, Bowman says. Many examples are included on how income and expense items should be recorded on the various tax forms.

An important feature of the guide this year is a list of dates when certain tax returns must be filed or taxes paid.

Bowman says there is also information on the new rules for deducting expenses of clearing land and investment credit provisions.

For Luick Memorial Auditorium—

Move afoot to buy grand piano by donations

School will give $1,000; another needed via gifts

Belmond's cultural enthusiasm and civic spirit are being put to a test by a project that was launched this week to purchase a grand piano for Luick Memorial auditorium at the high school.

While the need for a quality instrument to provide musical accompaniment for programs at the auditorium has been apparent for some time, it was given more imminency by the up-coming production of a professional operetta here under auspices of the Wright County Concert Series association.

A small piano owned by the school has been shuttled back and forth from the vocal music room to the auditorium as need required; but it would be desirable to have a larger, higher quality instrument for the type of entertainment that the operetta "Naughty Marietta" comprises.

Realization of this fact prompted a meeting last Saturday by an impromptu local committee to investigate the possibilities of acquiring a grand piano as a permanent appurtenance of the auditorium.

On the committee are Mrs. R. W. Courson, Mrs. Don Bunnell, Carl Braun and Dr. Paul Rietz. This group met Tuesday night with the directors of Belmond Community School district to ascertain what cooperation could be expected from the school board in meeting the problem.

It was suggested that a fine Chickering instrument of approximately six-foot dimension could be purchased for $2,000, which would be ideally suited to the variety of purposes that an auditorium piano would have to fill.

After discussion of the matter with the directors, the school board offered to meet half the cost from school funds if public subscription would take care of the remainder.

This would require the raising of $1,000 by contributions. That goal was promptly reduced to $800 by pledges of $100 each received from the First State bank of Belmond and from Carl Braun, an active local member of the concert association.

Mrs. Courson advised The Independent on Tuesday afternoon that early response to solicitation of gifts toward the project had been most gratifying and that contributions had already been received as follows:

First State bank	$100
Carl Braun	100
Mr. and Mrs. Don Bunnell	20
Mr. and Mrs. Luin Cox	10
Anonymous	25
Ed Gabrielson	10
Dr. and Mrs. A. M. Larson	10
Mr. and Mrs. R. W. Courson	30
Dr. and Mrs. P. A. Rietz	10
Mr. and Mrs. Walt Hotvet	10
Belmond Lions club	100
Total to date	$425

This left the amount of $575 still to be raised, but members of the committee feel there is every reason for confidence that the sum will be reached in plenty of time that the piano can be acquired before the operetta presentation here on Sunday, Feb. 16.

Because the new, grand piano will serve such a wide variety of community purposes, gifts will be welcomed from all persons regardless of whether they happen to belong to the concert series association. In fact, the committee regards that it will be decidedly necessary to obtain donations from a broader group if the goal is to be reached.

But since this will be required, the directors of the association have generously agreed to forego a standing rule of the group to aid the local project. Ordinarily, no one is permitted to attend performances presented as numbers in the concert series except holders of season tickets.

An exception will be made in the case of "Naughty Marietta," and any donor of $5 or more who is not a member of the concert series association will be given two complimentary tickets to the operetta.

Luick Memorial Auditorium was selected as site of the operetta production because its stage facilities are superior to those of the Clarion school auditorium, where all other numbers in the series are being presented.

Rev. Orlan Mitchell of Clarion, chairman of the association's board of directors, says 400 season memberships were purchased this year. Since setting up of additional chairs in the school auditorium here enables it to accommodate a crowd of close to 900, it is assured that it would easily provide seating for all non-association member contributors at the preformance of "Naughty Marietta".

The Independent has volunteered to make public the names of all donors to the piano project and the sums contributed. Gifts to this cause may be left at the newspaper office or may be handed to any member of the special committee earlier named.

105 CGD $$$'s "thawed"

The "January thaw" of the past couple of weeks not only melted away a good deal of ice but seems to have done a similar job of thawing out the Cash Gift Day fund. In the past two Tuesdays, $105 "flowed" into the pockets of lucky numberholders. A week ago, there were five winners of $10 each — Mrs. Harvey Sturm, Marie Boelman, Dolly Bryant, John W. Chapman and Mrs. Robert Sherrard. This past Tuesday Carroll Bamford picked up $25 as possessor of the first name drawn at 2:00 p. m. and $10 prizes went Francis Sandry, Nellie Leebrick and Albert Luick. The $25 prize at 3:00 o'clock was missed by Earl Hinman and absence cost the following each $10 — Louise Larson, Bill Jenkins, Hammond Ruter of Kanawha, Mrs. George Schulte of Alexander and Esther Boelman, Meservey. Next week there'll again be two $25 awards and eight of $10 each.

Study kits to aid clothing program

To give greater breadth and depth to the clothing program in Wright county a series of study kits has been prepared by extension specialists at Iowa State university, Ames, on what is called "Clothing in Depth", according to Geraldine Steele, county extension home economist.

First meeting to discuss group clothing projects will be held at the First National bank community room in Clarion at 2:00 p. m. next Tuesday. Any organization is entitled to send two members to receive the information and take it back to their clubs for use at later meetings. This meeting will be concerned with the "Clothing and Status."

Star and Masonic officers inducted in joint ceremony

A public, joint installation of the Masonic and Eastern Star lodges was held Wednesday evening of last week at the Masonic hall.

New officers of the Eastern Star are: Nannette Hildebrand, Worthy Matron; Lloyd Cunningham, Worthy Patron; Mavis Schroeder, associate matron; Robert Schroeder, associate patron; Mary Hildebrand, secretary; Rhea Campbell, treasurer; Juen Anderson, conductress.

Esther Hartwig, associate conductress; Cora Greenlander, chaplain; Thelma Cairns, marshal; Marie Zook, organist; Dorothy Martin, Adah; Alice Johnson, Ruth; Vera Smith, Esther; Margaret Jenison, Martha; Vivian Saunders, Electa; Erma Cunningham, warder; and Henry Larsen, sentinel.

Local coin group meets next week

Second monthly meeting of the newly organized Belmond Coin Collectors club will be held next Wednesday starting at 7:30 p. m. at the BHS student center.

President Jack Steinberg is expecting an appreciably larger turnout of collectors than attended the organization meeting held in mid-December. Pre-Christmas conflicts held attendance at the first meeting to about two dozen.

Membership will again be solicited at $3.00 for adults and $1.00 for students. Twenty-two numismatists became members of the club at the earlier meeting. One of the attractions of membership is eligibility for the door prize — an attractive proof set — that is drawn for at each meeting.

LUICK LEAVES FOR BASE

Pvt. E-1 Marlo D. Luick returned to Fort Leonard Wood, Mo., last Thursday after spending a 14-day furlough with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Luick. He had completed six weeks of basic training and had two more to put in following his holiday leave. He is then scheduled to go to Fort Devens, Mass., for communications schooling.

SOIL BUILDER BANQUET

Mr. and Mrs. Emory Thompson and Mr. and Mrs. Donald Thompson on Monday evening attended a banquet of representatives of the American Soil Builder and Research corporation held at Ken's Restaurant, Clarion.

City's employees rehired; only few pay raises given

Personnel and, with minor exceptions, salaries will remain the same where the city staff is concerned after disposal of first-of-the-year business by the council members in session Monday night.

City Clerk Lois Hammond was given a $10 per month raise, to $370; and an additional $15 per month goes to newcomers William Dirks — of the water department, and Night Marshal Jerry Lanigan to bring each up to $315.

Cemetery Superintendent Luther Proeger also was given a $10 per month increase, bringing his pay to $270.

Approval was given to overtime pay for Chief of Police Ray Thompson, based on his standard hourly rate of salary, for any call-outs requiring time over his regular 48 hours per week.

Salaries remaining same

Salaries of other officers and employees remain as follows: R. A. Henderson, city attoney, $225 quarterly; Glen Eccles, public works administrator, $500 monthly; Ronald Steenblock, water department, $330; Harold Vanness, street department, $330; Anton Ennen, street department, $325; Ray Thompson, chief of police, $390 plus $10 per month clothing allowance (Lanigan gets similar allowance).

Relief Marshals Maurice Dillon and Henry Gerdes, each $10.50 per day or night on duty; Art Lumley, dump ground superintendent, eight months at $75 and four months at $50.

Salary of the mayor was set some time ago by ordinance at $720 annually and the pay of councilmen at $5 per meeting.

Health officer reports

At their special meeting on Jan. 2, the councilmen confirmed the appointments of city employees made by Mayor Robert Misner and appointed directly Mrs. Hammond as city clerk, Mr. Henderson as city attorney, and Dr. G. J. Hruska as city health officer.

Dr. Hruska made his annual report and noted that the city had had no health problems of consequence during the year just passed.

The First State bank was renamed as the city's official depository, with the maximum deposit limit set at $500,000. As another matter of business, the sewer installation in O'Larry Addition of last fall was accepted as completed.

Speech therapist hired for county

Kenyon "Ken" D. Wilson of Alden has been engaged by the county board of education as speech therapist for the schools of Wright county. He will complete his training in this field at State College of Iowa, Cedar Falls, on Jan. 31 and take up his professional duties in Wright county on Feb. 3.

County Supt. C. W. Sankey says that Mr. Wilson will find it necessary at the outset to devote a major portion of his time to checking the hearing of pupils in the county's schools, as Wright has been without a therapist during the current semester.

This background work will have to be completed before it will be possible for the new therapist to devote much time to speech correction.

HELLO WORLD

A 6 lb. 11½ oz. daughter, Maureen Kay, was born Dec. 31 to Mr. and Mrs. Joe Drennan of Clarion.

Mr. and Mrs. Kermit Nelson of Garner are parents of an 8 lb. 3 oz. son born Jan. 1. They have named him Michael Dean.

Douglas Lee is the name chosen by Mr. and Mrs. Willard Krabbe of Thornton for the 8 lb. 8 oz. baby boy born to them Jan. 1.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Buseman are parents of a 7 lb. 10 oz. baby girl born Jan. 2. She has been named Jacqueline Sue.

Lions contribute to sight saving

Belmond's Lions club at is regular meeting held Tuesday noon at Lynn's Lounge voted to appropriate $150 as its annual contribution to the Sight Saving Foundation of the Iowa Lions at Iowa City.

This amount represented approximately half of the proceeds from the club's yearly sale of light bulbs, conducted last October, which yielded a net profit of $313.

The Lions' Sight Saving Foundation is the medium through which the public may pledge donation of eyes, upon death, both for the purpose of corneal transplants to provide vision for persons with defective corneas and for important eye research.

Also, the Lions voted that the club make a contribution of $100 toward the purchase of a grand piano for Luick Memorial auditorium. An initial motion had proposed a gift of $50; but the members' reaction was so unanimously favorable that the original motion was amended to make the donation double that amount.

President Ernest Doeringsfeld appointed committees to be in charge of menu and arrangements for the Lions' annual Ladies Night party in mid-February; also a committee to be responsible for nominating candidates for the club's 1964 Man-of-the-Year Award.

County FB group to D. M. meeting

Led by Leroy Watts, campaign manager, more than 20 volunteer membership leaders and workers from Wright county were expected to attend the annual state captain's meeting of the Iowa Farm Bureau Federation today (Thursday) at Des Moines.

This event is attended by nearly 3,000 Farm Bureau members from all over the state, the meeting serving as a kickoff for organized membership actvity.

Bob Feller, former pitching great with the Cleveland Indians from VanMeter, will be main speaker.

Foes in umpteenth thriller—

Broncs squeak by Clarion, 57-54

Sitting on the sidelines of a roundball battle royale between Belmond and Clarion is no place for a man with a faulty ticker. These two long-time foes Tuesday night added another chapter to the thriller they've written on the basketball court in recent years, the Broncos getting in the last word in chalking up a 57-54 victory.

There was some indication in the first half that Belmond might break the game open for an easy win as the Blue-and-White burst into a 9-0 lead in the first three minutes. The Broncos continued to hold fairly decisive leads through most of the first two quarters and enjoyed a seemingly comfortable 11-point advantage at halftime, 36 to 25.

But Belmond looked lethargic after the intermission — and the Cowboys returned to the floor breathing fire. In the period of about a minute's time in the third quarter, the Broncos saw a 38-28 lead shrink to four points as Denny Bowman hit two quick fielders and Richardson another.

This was only a hint of worse times to come, for by the time the quarter ended, the visitors had poured in 21 points to only eight for Belmond and the county seat crew held its first lead of the game, 46-44.

Neal Waddington, who'd had little success in guarding Bowman during this surge and been able to pick up only a couple of two-pointers himself, provided the heroics as the Broncos fought back.

He tied the score at 46-46, then saw Jim Russell and Daryl Suntken exchange baskets to reinstate a deadlock and Jim Pasquariello sneak the Broncs ahead 49-48 with a freethrow. Bowman and Bob Olson sent the Cowboys in front by three, but "Wadd" shaved the deficit to 51-52 with another swisher.

Four minutes remained as Bob Olson hit on one of two charity tries to get Clarion's next-to-last point. Waddington fired back with two field goals and with 3:15 to play Belmond went into a ball-control game to nurse its precarious 55-53 lead.

Though there were interruptions in the stall, only 1:08 remained when Olson wound up Clarion's scoring with one hit on a pair of freethrow tries. Forty-three seconds were left when Waddington cashed a gratis toss to make the spread two points; and Larry Ackerman fixed the 57-54 final score with another freethrow with 32 seconds to go.

In the first half, Belmond scoring had been well spread out. Pasquariello meshed nine points, Ackerman eight, Waddington nine, Bob Misner and Suntken four each and Paul Laaveg a couple. But "Wadd" accounted for 13 out of the 21 last-half points. Bowman matched Waddington's 22 total but only Russell also made double figures for Clarion, with 11.

Belmond took the junior varsity curtain-raiser with the greatest of ease, 44-21. Craig Boller and Les Braner tallied 16 and 15 respectively to lead the point parade as the Junior Broncos padded an 18-10 halftime edge to 32-14 in the third quarter.

CELEBRATING THEIR 50TH wedding anniversary this Sunday, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Drury will hold open house from 1:30 to 4:30 p. m. in the community room of the Rowan school. They are long-time residents of the Rowan-Belmond vicinity and are widely known throughout Wright county. Their relatives and friends are cordially invited to greet them during the hours noted and are advised that there will be a brief program at 3:00 o'clock. The Drurys have specified, "No gifts, please."

At Woolstock's request—

Supervisors ask 35 interchange

Harland Hill of Clarion was elected to succeed Ed Kennedy, Belmond, as chairman of the Wright county board of supervisors as that body organized for the new year on Thursday of last week.

Mr. Hill appointed standing committees as follows: courthouse and jail — A. W. Christopher and Everett Nelson; county farm — Walter Weidemann and Mr. Hill; roads and drainage — board as a whole.

Mr. Christopher, a returning member of the board of social welfare, was named chairman of the board. Mrs. C. N. Hildebrand, Belmond, also continues on the board and Mr. Weidemann was named as the third member.

The Belmond Independent, Wright County Monitor of Clarion and Eagle Grove Eagle were again designated as the county's "official" newspapers.

All banks that have been serving as depositories for county funds were again so designated, with maximum sums to be deposited remaining unchanged.

At the board's first regular meeting of the year, on Monday of this week, an appeal was presented by residents of the Woolstock vicinity that the supervisors ask the state highway commission to provide an Interstate 35 interchange on the so-called "Woolstock road".

Dick Kastler, a Woolstock native now living in Mason City and employed by the engineering firm of Wallace and Holland, served privately as spokesman for his former neighbors.

It was pointed out that the "Woolstock road" is now blacktopped to Highway 69 and is being graded this year between No. 69 and the Franklin county line preparatory to later paving of that stretch.

As presently planned by the highway commission, this road would be approximately in the center of an 11-mile length of Interstate 35 that would be without an interchange.

After hearing Mr. Kastler's appeal, the board unanimously adopted a resolution to be forwarded to the state highway commission asking that an interchange be established where the "Woolstock road" would intersect the superhighway.

MEET THE CHAMPS

Belmond-Garner clash key tilt in title race

SPORTS

There's a lot riding on the Belmond-Garner basketball game on the Cardinal court tomorrow night.

That statement will come as no surprise to the Bronco basketeers, whose only defeat this season was at the hands of Garner 'way back on Nov. 15 by a score of 66-55.

Without much question, the 1963-64 North Iowa conference cage title will hang on the outcome of Friday night's battle — which the Broncos realize full well.

But what the Blue-and-White cagers did NOT know, until The Independent passed the fact on to Coach Jack Steinberg, is that in the past 23 years Garner has never been able to pin two basketball defeats in one season on Belmond!

It goes clear back to the season of 1939-40 when the Cardinals last turned the trick — 23-21 and 29-19. The Independent's files show the results of 77 games between the two arch rivals since the schools first met in 1920-21 (Belmond won the first game 15-8, lost a return engagement 16-6).

Over the span of 41 seasons (results of possibly a half dozen games are not to be found in The Independent's files), Belmond has chalked up 49 victories against only 28 losses to Garner.

It is worthy of special note that in the past six seasons, neither team has been able to win both games that pitted these long-time foes against each other. Since 1954-55, this has been achieved only once — Belmond took the two games played in 1956-57 by tallies of 55-47 and 49-43.

Should the Cardinals manage to make it two in a row tomorrow night, it would be an achievement accomplished by Garner only for the third time during the 44-year-old rivalry. Other than in '39-40, the only other time the Cardinals swept a season against Belmond was in '37-36, insofar as the available records show. That year they won by 22-17 and 33-31.

So it would appear that the Broncos have ample inspiration for an all-out attempt to avoid a second straight defeat at Garner's hands tomorrow night.

In their first meeting this season, which was the first game for both teams, Belmond was below normal strength due to absence of Bob Misner from the line-up with a sprained ankle.

The Broncos did not begin to click until Misner returned to full-time duty. But even with Bobby getting in his licks, Belmond has been somewhat less impressive to date than Garner.

The Cards' only defeat has been at the hands of Algona's league-leading North Central conference crew in a squeaker that was decided on freethrows in the last couple of minutes.

Tomorrow night's battle royale figures to be won, within all probability, under the baskets. The team that is toughest on rebounding is very likely to carry off the laurels. The Broncos have the height to give the Cardinals a tough scrap in this department, so the game SHOULD be a typical Belmond-Garner rouser.

Hampton matmen here on Tuesday

Belmond High's wrestlers will resume action Tuesday night, playing host to the strong Hampton mat aggregation. The Bulldogs trounced the Broncos 30 to 8 in their first meeting on Dec. 6. The reserve matches Tuesday will start at 6:45 and the varsity matches about 8:00 o'clock.

Hampton was runner-up in the recent Belmond Invitational tournament, but emerged with only the same number of champions as Belmond — two. Coach Jim Sovereign is hopeful that the Broncos may be able to improve upon their earlier showing against the Franklin county crew.

At Hampton the only Bronc winners were Bob Whitty at 103 pounds and Randy Thayer in the heavyweight class. Bob Wessels earned a 154-pound draw.

In the tournament here, Mickey Ketchum took an overtime decision from Gary Harris of Hampton at 112 pounds. Harris wrestled at 120 in the dual meet in December, but will probably be wanting a second chance at the feisty Bronco.

Dennis McNulty, wrestling in the tournament in Thayer's heavyweight spot, matched his teammate in downing Hampton's Jeff Van Blair.

Margin at halftime, 42-16—

Broncos smash Bison, 80 to 36

To the general surprise of everyone concerned, the Belmond-Buffalo Center basketball tilt here last Friday night turned out to be strictly "no contest" as the Broncos romped over the visiting Bison 80 to 36.

While it was perhaps the Blue-and-White's best performance of the season to date, even Belmond backers must have suspected that Coach Bill Prochaska's outfit is better than it showed in this meeting with the Broncos.

Particularly in the latter part of the first quarter, the Bison passed the ball well and appeared a well-knit team. Also, they hit reasonably well when they got an open shot. Their difficulty was that such shots were few and far between.

Bob Misner did a particularly masterful job of covering BC's scoring ace, Lyle Hippen. The little Bison guard got only four points the first half and then added six more in the second half while Bob was on him. He picked up three more against the reserves to lead the losers in scoring with 13 points.

Neal Waddington and Larry Ackerman played only three quarters apiece, but laid up 23 and 19 points respectively to lead the well balanced Bronco attack. Daryl Suntken had his best scoring night with 10 points, all in the first half; Jim Pasquariello, Misner and Paul Laaveg chipped in with eight apiece while Les Braner and Jerry Soma each contributed two.

Buffalo Center lost its tallest player and second-high scorer, Dave Gray, on fouls near the end of the third stanza. He was their best rebounding threat and tallied 12 points.

Momentarily in the opening period it looked as if the Bison might make a game of it when the sliced a 15-4 Belmond lead to 15-10. But the Broncos poured in 27 points between then and halftime while BC could add only six to make the intermission score 42-16.

As the third quarter got underway, the visitors enjoyed another flurry of success and played the Broncs even as the count advanced to 52-26. Belmond then proceeded to string 16 points while blanking the visitors and held a 42-point margin, 68-26, as the final frame got underway. Coach Jack Steinberg replaced his regulars with reserves at this juncture, but the Belmond subs more than held their own the rest of the way. BC reserves also took over in the final minutes.

Suntken played his best game thus far, doing some good rebounding as well as scoring better than usual; and Paul Laaveg also performed creditably. Waddington and Ackerman were just about unstoppable. Misner adeptly filled his role of play-maker and Pasquariello also did a nice job.

Belmond's froshmores blew a promising chance for a victory when they lost their poise in the late stages after holding a 33-29 lead with a little more than two minutes to go. The Bison Calves wound up with a 37-33 decision.

This was a nip-and-tuck battle most of the way, BC leading 21-19 at the half and 26-25 entering the final quarter. It appeared Doug Thompsen was getting the Junior Broncs in command when he nailed three baskets to help create their late advantage. But instead of the visitors cracking under the pressure, it was the home team.

Craig Boller, though benched a good deal due to foul trouble, topped the Belmond scoring with eight points. Rich Stadtlander and Bob Vander Schaaf matched Thompsen's six points. Both Boller and Bob Benton fouled out near the close of the game.

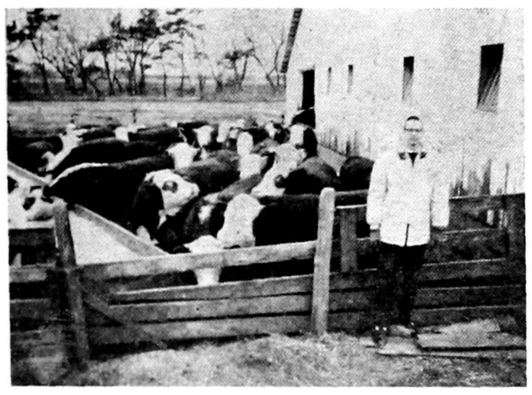
CHECKERBOARD and FARMERS GRAIN CO. SALUTE Vocational Agriculture

Skills learned at school, in shop and in class, are applied by the student on his own project.



THERE ARE OPPORTUNITIES IN AGRICULTURE

The farm boy, with his rich experience of rural life and work on the farm, has a built-in advantage for gainful occupation in the broad field of agriculture. The opportunities are there, and they will remain in the future. The farm boy must however prepare himself for these opportunities.

Dennis Swenson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Swenson, who farm west of Belmond, is setting an example that might serve as a guide for some younger students of Vocational Agriculture. His supervised farming program includes a partnership with his dad on the 50 head of steers shown above. He has a crib that is full of his corn from his own crop project. This shows a balanced program of crop and livestock . . . one that could easily develop into full time farming. But Dennis is not slighting his school work as he is taking five subjects in preparation for college. He is gaining leadership ability by serving as Reporter for the local FFA chapter. His membership in chorus and the National Honor Society are other examples of Dennis's ability.

It has been said that the product of vocational agriculture is an asset to America. He is a well-rounded individual with basic preparation for a wide horizon of agricultural occupations. A Voc-Ag student is trained in the sciences, skills and management aspects of agriculture. His high school curriculum generally has been such that upon graduation he is qualified for college entry. In addition he has developed poise, self-confidence and leadership ability.

All the above statements apply to Dennis Swenson as he takes advantage of the opportunities provided for him by the Belmond Community High School.

MRS. AMOS HANSON

Mrs. Boller falls, breaks her hip

Mrs. Anton Boller had the misfortune to fall in her home a week ago Sunday and break her hip. She was taken to the Belmond hospital and on the following Wednesday was transferred to the Mercy hospital at Mason City.

She underwent surgery Friday to have the fracture set and at this writing is getting along nicely. Her room number is 447

George Stokebarry of Garner, who was local Watkins salesman for many years, is a medical patient in the Mercy hospital at Mason City.

Mr. and Mrs. William Herd of Fort Dodge were last Thursday evening visitors in the J. J. Cook home. Mrs. Herd teaches at Fort Dodge and will be remembered as Irene Kester, who taught in the local school and lived with the late Mrs. W. L. Sherwood.

Mrs. Laton Avery spent last week visiting relatives in Williams. Her sister, Mrs. Lee (Anna) Milsap, returned home with her Friday.

Mr. and Mrs. Don Newman of Rockwell visited Monday in the Gilbert Kropp home. Thursday, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Schlichting of Ventura visited in this home.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Nolte spent the weekend in the home of their daughter, Mrs. Merle Peterson, at Waverly. Merle is recovering nicely from his burns and does not need more grafting. He is back to work with the Shields company where he has been employed 14 years.

Mr. and Mrs. Earl Bachman and Ronald, their house guest, Mrs. Charles Halfpop of Mason City, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Lauen and Michelle and Mr. and Mrs. Larry Lauen visited Saturday evening in the John Lauen home. Mr. and Mrs. Klaus Klausen of Mason City were Sunday guests in this home.

Duane and Leon Peterson, sons of Mr. and Mrs. Roland Peterson who live on a farm northwest of Belmond visited the fore part of last week in the home of their aunt, Barbara Peterson.

Olive Butts left Friday via bus for her home in Fairmont, Minn. New Year's Day, Adolph and Jack Wenzel of Belmond were dinner guests in the Butts home.

The Lauretz Peterson family recently moved into the house on the former Pete Steenblock farm three miles east. They had been living northwest of Belmond on the Hauge farm.

Mr. and Mrs. Tom Lowenberg of White Bear, Minn., spent the weekend in the parental Arthur Lowenberg home. Tom is an engineer for the 3M Company and Mrs. Lowenberg is second grade teacher in a Minneapolis school.

Mr. and Mrs. Tony Boller of Waterloo spent over night Saturday in the William Boller home coming especially to see his mother, Mrs. Anton Boller, a surgical patient at the Mercy hospital, Mason City. Their daughter, Mrs. Don Nolan of Waterloo, is a teacher in Cedar Falls.

W. S. W. S. meets Friday with Mrs. Park Miller

Mrs. Park Miller will be hostess to the W. S. W. S. in her home Friday at 2:00 p. m. Mrs Willis Anderson is lesson leader. This is the quarterly Silver Tea.

Mrs. J. E. Savogue's 86th birthday honored at party

Mrs. Arthur Savogue entertained at a surprise party last Thursday afternoon honoring Mrs. J. E. Savogue on her 86th birthday, which was Jan. 3rd. There were eight women present, Mrs. William Heginger of Belmond being an out of town guest. The honoree received some nice gifts and the hostess served lunch including two birthday cakes. The party was held at the honoree's home.

The following day, the former's niece, Mrs. Sandy (Pearl) Green of Sheldon, came and brought a birthday cake and visited over night and in the homes of her cousins, Arthur Savogue and Mrs. Walter Boller. Saturday, Mrs. Green went to Clear Lake to visit in the home of another aunt, Mrs. Sumner (Ina) Eldred.

Mr. and Mrs. Ed Baker and Mr. and Mrs. Ben Baker and Bob of Hayfield were guests Sunday in the Harm Katuin home. The men are brothers of Mrs. Katuin. Bob recently completed his six months of enlisted army training at Fort Sill, Okla.

New Year's Day guests in the Edward Halfpop home were her mother, Mrs. Archie Landon of Belmond; his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Halfpop, and their son's family, Mr. and Mrs. Leland Halfpop and Robert.

Mr. and Mrs. Earl Ruka visited Sunday in the Herman Brunes home. The Don Braners took them to Des Moines Monday to visit friends and they left via train that night for their home in La Habra, Calif.

H. O Sandberg and Mr. and Mrs. Amos Hanson went to Mason City New Year's Day and spent the afternoon with the former's wife, a patient at the Mercy hospital. They were supper guests in the Gilbert Jones home there. Mrs. Jones and Mrs. Sandberg are cousins.

Bob Schneider of Spencer called a week ago Tuesday in the Dominy and Hanson homes. His mother, Mrs. E. J. Schneider of Belmond, accompanied him to Moville where they enjoyed a visit in the home of her daughter, Mrs. Dale Schreiner. The Schreiners' daughter Marilyn was unable to be with them for the holidays. She is assistant head therapist in the Ford Foundation Hospital in Detroit, Mich. Their daughter, Doris is a sophomore in the State University at Maryville, Mo., and her twin brother is a student at business college in Omaha.

Many from this vicinity attended rites for Lud Johnson at Belmond a week ago Monday.

Cline family gathering held at Raymond Cline's

Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Cline, Bob and Jean invited relatives to their home Sunday for a Cline family get together. It was a belated holiday dinner.

Guests were his mother, Mrs. Roy Cline of Crystal Lake, and sisters with their families, Mr. and Mrs. Howard Jacobmeyer, Barbara, Jim and Jane of Belmond, Mr. and Mrs. Curtis Jante, Raymond, Linda and Sheryl of Garner, Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Jenison and Steve and Mr. and Mrs. Henry Hettle, Jimmy, Ricky and Kathy of Ames and Mrs. Roy Cline's cousin, John Toff of Woden. Ricky Hettle remained for a longer visit.

Sherwood funeral rites conducted Friday afternoon

Mrs. Margaret Jane Sherwood, 84, died Tuesday evening of last week at Belmond Community hospital, where she had been a patient for a month's time. Funeral services were conducted Friday afternoon at the EUB church, Rev. Forest Lay officiating and Johnston Funeral Home of Belmond in charge.

Burial was in Amsterdam cemetery. Pallbearers were Henry Brede, Harold Savogue, Henry Nolte, Leo Kearney, Amos Hanson and Elmer Kienenberger.

Born at Ackley on Jan. 29, 1879, Margaret Jane Griggs was the daughter of John and Emily Griggs. The family moved to a farm northeast of Goodell when Margaret was a girl.

She was married on June 26, 1900, to William L. Sherwood and for more than 40 years they farmed land that had been homesteaded by Mr. Griggs. In 1941, Mrs. Sherwood moved to Goodell following her husband's death and had since made her home here.

She was a lifetime member of the Goodell EUB church and was a member of its Missionary Society and Ladies Aid.

Two daughters survive Mrs. Sherwood, Mrs. Ciell (Iris) LaFavre of Klemme and Mrs. Henry (LaVonne) Emmons of Emmons, Minn. She also leaves two sisters, Mrs. Maude Carpenter and Mrs. J. J. Cook, both of Goodell; six grandchildren and one great grandson.

Besides her husband, she was preceded in death by two brothers, Jay and George Griggs.

Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Christie, Jane and Greg of Marble Rock spent Sunday in the Ione Christie home. They had returned home on Thursday from San Luis Obispo, Calif., where they enjoyed the holidays with Mrs. Christie's folks, the H. E. Bollers.

Mr. and Mrs. Verdell Lunning, Steve and Scott of Forest City spent Sunday with her folks, the Edward Petersons.

Mr. and Mrs. Harm Katuin took their younger son, Pvt. Marvin G., to Mason City Thursday. He and his army buddy, Ronald Polen of Hampton, left by plane for Fort Gordon, Ga., following their furloughs. Marvin will graduate Jan. 23 in an M. P. Course.

Mr. and Mrs. Leo Barkema of Mason City were Monday evening visitors of Howard and Josephine Dominy. Mrs. Barkema teaches in the Mason City schools.

Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Tillman and Terry of Clarion visited New Year's Eve and Mr. and Mrs. Max Banwell of Dows, New Year's Day in the home of the latter's son, Bruce Banwell. Saturday evening, the Banwells visited friends, the Gordon Smiths, in Clarion and spent Sunday in the parental Gaehart Hopkey home at Alexander.

Mr. and Mrs. Ray Ford of Garner were Sunday dinner guests in the Henry Brede home. In the afternoon, the four went to Dows and visited in the Bob Brede home.

Mrs. W. E. Tanner accompanied her sister, Mrs. Cella Bunkoske of Garner, to Des Moines where they visited over New Year's in the home of the latter's daughter, Mrs. Charles Dayton.

Kenton Stille, Mike Luick, Bob Burk and Randall Barkema have resumed their college studies in Mason City after the holiday vacation in their respective homes.

Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert Kropp entertained Sunday in honor of the birthday of her sister, Leona Schlichting. Guests were Mrs. W. E. Tanner, Margaret Brede and Mr. and Mrs. Frank Kemp.

Mrs. William Eimbrink had as her supper guests New Year's Eve her daughter's family, Mr. and Mrs. John Davids, Wilma, Wanda and Laura of Belmond, and New Year's Day entertained her other daughter's family, Mr. and Mrs. Garrett Schruer, Charles and Herbert of Kanawha. Sunday, Mrs. Anna Trager, her son and family of Belmond visited in this home.

Mrs. W. H. Sheriff and her brother, Keith Neuhring of Belmond, took her son Bob to Ames Sunday to resume his college studies. They also visited Beverly Sheriff.

Mrs. Dale Shelton and Mrs. Harry Ostendorf of Meservey went to Garner Tuesday to the Farm Bureau training school. They took the lesson on "Clothes and Status."

Mrs. A. M. Graeber, who makes her home with her niece in Flint, Mich., is an observation and x-ray patient in the McLaren hospital, room 238, at Flint. She will enjoy hearing from her many local friends.

Mrs. Gilbert Kropp received word that her cousin, Clarence (Kelly) Lauden of Watkins, Minn., submitted to a major kidney operation Monday in the hospital at St. Cloud, Minn. The Laudens lived near Rowan before going to Watkins. His brother and wife, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Lauden of Klemme, went to St. Cloud to be with him for the operation.

Auxiliary sends hospital favors

Barbara Peterson was hostess to the American Legion Auxiliary in her home last Thursday evening. Olive Butts of Fairmont, Minn., was a guest.

One hundred favors were sent to the state hospital at Woodward; also $2.00 was sent to help purchase the American and Legion flags to be used at district Auxiliary meetings.

Refreshments were served. Betty Peterson, who is a junior member, Mary and June Nolte were waitresses.

Mrs. W. E. Tanner is February hostess.

The Hancock county meeting is at Britt on Jan. 28 at 1:30 p. m. The Hancock county nurse, Marilyn Dominy of Goodell, will be on the program.

MR. AND MRS. ROGER LEIST

Carnita Kay Trager became bride of Roger Leist, Rowan, Dec. 21st

Miss Carnita Kay Trager, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Carl A. Trager, became the bride of Roger John Leist, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Leist of Rowan, in a candlelight, double-ring ceremony performed at the Methodist church at 8:00 p. m. on Saturday, Dec. 21, by Rev. M. L. Jones.

A large bouquet of white pompons and blue flocked spruce adorned the altar and added decoration took the form of aisle candelabra tied with leatherleaf and white ribbons.

Mrs. Paul Jenison was organist, and in addition to traditional nuptial music provided accompaniment for Mrs. Robert Leist, sister-in-law of the groom, who sang "Because" and, as the coluple knelt at the altar, "The Lord's Prayer".

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown of Chantilly lace. The bouffant skirt was of all-lace over tulle and satin with a drape bow in the back that swept into a chapel train. The pointed, fitted bodice had a round scalloped neckline trimmed with iridescent sequins and also featured long, tapered sleeves of lace.

The bride's fingertip silk illusion veil was attached to a crown of pearls with drop pearls. She carried a baskette bouquet of white pompons and leatherleaf centered with a corsage of pink roses.

Maid of honor was Barbara Tripp and bridesmaid was Mrs. John Smith, the latter of Rowan. They wore dresses of cotillion blue organza over taffeta, having bell-shaped skirts with inverted pleated and fitted bodices, and round necklines. The dresses had cap sleeves and were trimmed with bows in the back.

Both attendants wore jewel combs of aerora borealis crystals, with circular veils, and carried baskette bouquets of white pompons tied with white ribbon.

Attendants to the groom were his brother, Ronald Leist of Rowan, as best man, and John Smith of Rowan as groomsman. Men of the wedding party wore dark suits with white carnation boutonnieres.

Colleen Jones was in charge of the guest book and gifts were opened and arrangd by Mrs. Larry Tideback of Waterloo, Marcia Hattel, Judy Gordon and Sheila Musselman, all former classmates of the bride.

A reception was held for 150 guests in the church parlors following the ceremony. Mrs. William Bohning of Rowan, aunt of the bride, and Mrs. Roger Rietz of Omaha, Neb., cousin of the bride, cut the five-tiered wedding cake. Mrs. Jerry Aldrich of Alden presided at the punch bowl and Mrs. Jerry Dorr poured coffee, both being cousins of the bride.

For going-away, the bride wore a white wool sheath dress with black accessories, also the corsage from her wedding bouquet. After a short honeymoon trip, the newlyweds are at home in Rowan.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Leist are graduates of Belmond Community High school. The bride attended Mason City Junior college and is now employed in the office of the Belmond Division of Armour Agricultural Chemical company here. The groom is engaged in farming with his father.

Dinner at Dick Middleton home honors granddaughter's baptism

Guests were entertained in the Dick Middleton home a week ago Sunday at a dinner following the baptism of their granddaughter, Vicki Middleton, daughter of Airman and Mrs. Tom Middleton of Patuxent River, Md.

Present were the Tom Middletons, Mr. and Mrs. Rudy Hefte and family of Britt, Paul Klehm of Garner and Mrs. Daisy Lemke of Klemme.

Benjamin Fuller celebrates his 10th birthday at party

Benjamin Fuller, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Fuller, celebrated his 10th birthday Friday afternoon at a party with several classmates.

ENGAGEMENT of their daughter Diane Carol to Ronald L. Hansen is announced by Mr. and Mrs. Rex Fetrow. Her fiancee is the son of Mrs. H. C. Hansen of Alexander and the late Mr. Hansen, who for many years made their home in Belmond. Miss Fetrow is a junior in the college of nursing at the State University of Iowa, Iowa City. Mr. Hansen is a graduate of the SUI college of law and is employed by the Federal Reserve Bank of Chicago.

BETROTHAL of their daughter Diane Jeanne to Thomas Michael McNulty, son of Mr. and Mrs. Gerald McNulty of Belmond, is announced by Mr. and Mrs. Dale Dougherty of Clarion. Miss Dougherty will graduate next June from Drake university, Des Moines, and her fiancee will graduate from Winona State college, Winona, Minn., in March. A June wedding is planned.

HELLO WORLD

Mr. and Mrs. Ray Waddington of Minneapolis, Minn., are parents of a baby girl, Jennifer Lynn, born Jan. 3. Mrs. Mima Waddington is the local grandmother.

● Belmond Locals

Mr. and Mrs. John Kohmetscher of East Lansing, Mich., were visitors recently in the home of her mother, Mrs. Grace Jones.

Mr. and Mrs. Claude Veeder, accompanied by Mrs. James Carothers and Mrs. Albert Lade of Garner, went to Austin, Minn. Saturday, Dec. 28, to attend the wedding of a niece of Mrs. Veeder, Judith Carothers, to Robert Peters, held at the St. Olaf church.

Mr. and Mrs. Veylard Adrian, Gloria and Marlys of Cheyenne, Wyo., and Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Holtan of Ames left for their homes a week ago Friday after having attended funeral services the previous day for Anna Holm. The visitors had been Christmas guests in the parental Helmer Hanson home.

NOTICE TO ALL DRIVER'S LICENSE HOLDERS

Beginning Jan. 2, 1964

. . . If you have a Social Security Number, you must show it before you can apply for a renewal of your Driver's License.

It is suggested that if you don't have one, but are going to get one in the near future, that you do so before you apply for renewal of your Driver's License.

The Driver's License Examiner will assign to teenagers applying for a license for the first time — and other persons who don't have a Social Security Number — a temporary number to be used in lieu of a Social Security Number. Such individuals will be expected to obtain a Social Security Number before the first renewal of their Driver's License.

Application forms for obtaining a Social Security Number may be obtained from your local post office.

Fret not thyself because of evildoers, neither be thou envious against the workers of iniquity, for they shall soon be cut down like the grass, and wither as the green herb. — Psalms 37: 1-2

This irresponsible pension grab should be stomped on

Last week's mail brought The Independent a news release from the Veterans of World War I of the U. S. A. boasting that the organization was the only veterans group that fought "all out" for a pension during the 87th Congress.

This organization was chartered by Congress in 1958, claims to be the third largest veterans organization in the nation now, and is — to put it bluntly — a would-be money-grabbing outfit of the first water.

The VWW has been trying to force out of the Veterans Affairs committee of the House a bill that would boost the pensions of more than one million WWI veterans and add more than a half million more to the pension rolls.

As matters presently stand, the VWW has pressured 130 Congressmen into signing a discharge petition that would bring the bill before the House. Another 89 are needed to get the job done.

We've read details about the pension bill and it is about the most unconscionable treasury raid that was ever dreamed up for the benefit of one group of U. S. citizens at the expense of the rest. If it should ever be passed — which, fortunately, seems highly unlikely at this writing — it would set a precedent that certain elements among World War II veterans would unquestionably bend to their own selfish purposes in years to come.

It would put into circulation billions in inflationary dollars that would do immeasurable harm to the economy of our nation and be a terrific burden to taxpayers in general.

Fortunately, a majority (or at least we devoutly hope that their number would represent a sizeable majority) of the men who saw U. S. military service in World War I view that service as a patriotic responsibility for which no gratuity is owed by their nation. But the exceptions are extremely vocal and represent a dangerous political factor.

If we were a World War I veteran, we would stoutly withhold our support from any such organization as Veterans of World War I of the U. S. A. We believe that disabled veterans and widows of veterans should not be left in want. But there is not the slightest excuse for across-the-board pensions for all participants in ANY armed conflict of this country and we've little respect for any group that would pursue this goal.

Hultman, Hughes promise first-class political race

With Evan "Curly" Hultman's hat now in the ring for nomination as the Republicans' candidate for governor, Iowans can look forward to some of the liveliest political activity on the state level in quite some time.

Whether Attorney General Hultman will have any serious opposition for the nomination remains to be seen; but the best guess would be that other GOP hopefuls harboring an ambition to be governor will be glad to let "Curly" tangle with the incumbent Harold Hughes.

Even admirers of the present governor would hesitate to declare with certainty whether lucky opportunism or unusual political farsightedness has put him in the remarkably solid position he presently holds. No one, however, can deny that he has been forthright in calling his shots and has survived the rigors of a first term without once tripping up on an important issue.

Many Republicans are inclined to discount the sincerity of his outspoken stand against the Shaff Plan as a calculated bid for continuation of the big city and labor support that put him in office. Maybe so; but he could have gotten himself less far out on a limb than he did on reapportionment without jeopardizing that support — and we're personally inclined to give him a generous share of credit for being prompted by honest conviction in the matter.

So — if this corner shared Governor Hughes' viewpoint on this important issue, it could logically be asked how we might excuse ourself if we oppose him editorially in his effort for re-election. We DO intend to oppose him.

While we must confess considerable admiration for the manner in which Governor Hughes has conducted his office, we sincerely believe that Evan Hultman would prove an equally capable executive. And we further believe that there are very great advantages to be derived from having a Republican governor to work with a Republican-dominated legislature.

Actually, since Hughes defeated Norman Erbe, Hultman has been quite generally conceded as the GOP's most determined "unannounced" candidate for the governorship nomination. When Hughes enjoyed such notable successes on both the liquor-by-the-drink and reapportionment issues, it was enough to give anyone but a genuine "scrapper" pause to think before laying a carefully nurtured political future on the line to tangle with the handsome Democratic standard-bearer.

"Curly" made his diminuitive five-foot, four-inch stature adequate to win varsity football and track laurels against the tough competition which his high school alma mater, East of Waterloo, comes up against. His leadership qualities were clearly demonstrated in successful campaigns for General Legal Counsel of the United States Junior Chamber of Commerce, Black Hawk county attorney and attorney general of Iowa.

That he has "the brains" necessary to compliment his aggressiveness and gift for leadership is clearly established by his membership in Phi Beta Kappa and Phi Eta Sigma, national scholastic honorary fraternities. He also wears the keys of Delta Sigma Rho, national speech honorary fraternity, and Omicron Delta Kappa, national leadership honorary fraternity.

In fact, Evan Hultman's attributes important to public office are so numerous as to appear "made to order". A fine, happy family (an asset not all politicians can point to these days); outstanding military record (into World War II a private, out a captain — and presently a Lieutenant Colonel in the Army Reserve). You name it; "Curly" has it.

It is refreshing to have a contest between two well qualified candidates shaping up. It will take an extraordinarily good man to return the governorship to the GOP. An it's our conviction that the Republicans HAVE that man in Evan Hultman.

Re: impromptu dressing room chats

Television should know by now that a boys' locker room is a precarious location for spontaneous interviews.

For one thing, you can't anticipate what an exhuberant athlete will say after a great victory — or a disappointing defeat.

After the Chicago Bears won the professional football championship Sunday, a dressing room interview captured a victory chant that must have shocked the little old lady in Dubuque.

For those of us who had our sets turned on for the late afternoon appearance of Oral Roberts, such vulgarity was certainly revolting.

THE TV SPORTSCASTER should take a tip from the commercial end of the business.

Do they ask Mickey Mantle about Gillette Foamy Shave without handing him a script so he knows what to say?

Would the joker with the greasy kid stuff on his hair succumb to the chortles of millions if the proper, restrained respons wasn't written on cue cards in front of him?

There was no excuse for failing to hand every Chicago Bear a typewritten script as the team filed into the dressing room after the victory.

MITCH MILLER SHOULD HAVE been there to lead the singing of "For He's a Jolly Good Fellow," a proper substitute for that dirty chant about George and the horse.

A little language variety could have been thrown into player responses.

Instead of "hitting me hard" or playing "hard-nosed football," the players could follow a script and refer to a "plucky" opposing team or praise the "peachy-keen" pass catch that set up the winning touchdown.

Even the little old lady in Dubuque would become indignant, but not shocked, at hearing Billy Wade refer to linebacker Sam Huff as "that bounder." — Bloomfield Democrat

Those mean Republicans

Here's a good laugh for the holidays. "A white house spokesman said 'A clear attempt by the midwest isolationist wing of the Republican party, headed by Mr. Halleck of Indiana, to seize control of the Republican party and impose its will.'" . . . The blast a result of the failure of the administration to get what it wanted in the foreign aid bill. As of last week the makeup to the House of Representatives was 257 Democrats and 178 Republicans. Ha! Ha! Ha! — Lyon County Reporter

The nation lives on

Out of evil, sometimes comes a good. Perhaps that can be said, in all humility and wonder, of the terrible assassination of President Kennedy.

The nation was shocked — shocked to the heart, and pervading sorrow lay over all. But the nation lived. A new President took the helm at once, in line of duty, and the continuity was never broken.

PRESIDENTS, AS ALL MORtals must, pass on — by natural death, by retirement, by the will of the electorate, or, in rare and awful instances, by a violence that no rational mind can understand.

But the nation goes on. Its institutions and its necessities remain in all their strength and urgency. The nation is greater than any man, great as he may be.

SO, TO SPEAK IN SYMBOL, THE flag still flew. It was at half mast, in honor and in sadness, but it was there. The flag is beyond mortality, as it is beyond the problems and controversies of the passing moments.

The nation stands firm and strong — as, at a time of profound tragendy, the whole world learned. — Northwood Anchor

PERILOUS MONKEYSHINES

CONVERSATIONS WITH THE OFFICE CAT

By YE ED

ON WAISTING AWAY—

"Ever think of joining TOPS?" TJ the office cat asked casually as he slouched past us en route to his customary station on the easy chair.

"Come again?" we invited.

"T-O-P-S, TOPS," he repeated. "Taking Off Pounds Sensibly. It's an organization of flabbily fat individuals who aspire to paring down to pleasingly plump. No crash diets. Just a little horse sense in stowing away the hay."

"You apparently regard that we could use the treatment," we observed.

"Look at it this way," suggested the cat. "You not only got a spare tire, but it's becoming over-inflated."

"IT'S INTERESTING THAT YOU should bring that up," we replied. "Fact of the matter is, we're quite determined to do something about that. Right after we quit smoking, we intend to go on a diet. The way we got it figured, if we cut out the coughin'-nails and get our weight down to normal, we'll probably live forever."

Disregarding the feeble levity, TJ continued, "You're not alone with the problem. I read the other day that there are six million guys in the U. S. who are overweight. . . . Round figures, of course."

"Fact of the matter is," we put in, before the cat could try to top THAT one, "we're thinking of making weight reducing a family project at our house. Wife says that about half her wardrobe is getting argumentative about slipping on the way it should. And Kev's getting to look like somebody started to pump him up and forgot when to quit.

"WE HEARD OF A REAL weight-controller we're going to introduce for breakfast fare. Scrambled egg. The wife puts one egg on the table and we all scramble for it."

"That's a bad yolk," sneered TJ. "I heard of a better one. It allows you to eat as much as you want of ANYTHING at breakfast, lunch and dinner."

"Tell us more," we urged.

"The only thing is," the cat explained, "breakfast is on Sunday, lunch is on Wednesday and dinner is on Friday."

"Will you please tell us," we pursued the subject, after a moment's pause to let the air clear, "why the subject of reducing is regarded so funny? It's a serious business. Really!

"YET EVEN THE DOCTORS, who are usually pretty serious about ANY health angle, are somewhat disposed to treat weight-losing lightly. For example, a friend of ours went to his family physician a little while back to see about shaking some pounds.

"The Doc gives him a complete examination, then hands him a diet and says, 'Follow this diet religiously. In a couple of months, I want to see three-fourths of you back here for a check-up'!"

"Is it true," TJ asked, "that each five pounds of extra flab takes a year off your life?"

"Those we've talked to who've gone on an honest-to-goodness diet and actually taken off enough pounds to count," we replied, "seem of a mixed opinion as to whether they're really going to live longer — or whether it's just gonna SEEM that way. You know what they say. All the pleasures that appeal after 50 seem to be immoral, against the law — or fattening."

"SOME WAY," DECLARED THE cat, "I can't feel you're too hepped up over reducing. I s'pose you've heard the story of the Three Bears?"

Well now, naturally, we've heard the story of the Three Bears—but we knew we'd never head off the cat, so we just sat still and listened.

TJ proceeded with his tale:

"Baby Bear: Someone's been sitting in my chair, and all the legs are all broken.

"Mama Bear: Someone's been sitting in MY chair, and the springs are all shot!

"Papa Bear: Okay! So I go on a diet starting tomorrow."

While the cat almost rolled to the floor in appreciation of his own humor, we growled, "The one with Goldilocks is better."

Turning to the typewriter, we added: "Guess we can put it off a bit longer. A fat man's supposed to be good natured. When the time comes that we can abide these visits with you and keep our good nature intact, we'll KNOW it's time to start pushing away from the table sooner."

Last year, Wright county led all surrounding north Iowa counties in the amount of tax reduction achieved in comparison with 1932 taxes. The Wright levy for 1933 was lowered to produce $117,831 less in taxes than the year previous.

—1934—

By Tuesday of this week, 700 corn loans had been granted in Wright county in the total amount of $599,165. Albert Martin, corn sealer in Belmond and Pleasant townships, has been sick and unable to do any sealing since the day before Christmas, which likely accounts for the slow-up in issuance of loans in this county.

—1934—

The 85 local men employed on CWA projects resumed work here on Monday morning after a week's lay-off. They started work again on New Year's Day, with the temperature at zero.

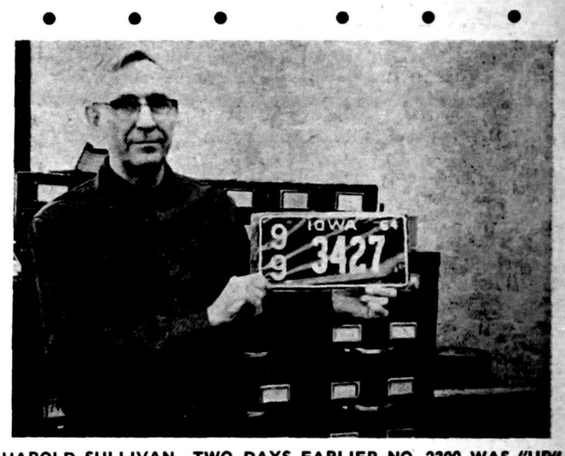
Treasurer's problem pointed up—

Threat of deduction loss spurs plate-buyers



HAROLD SULLIVAN—TWO DAYS EARLIER NO. 2300 WAS "UP"

You question "the power" of the press?

We can cite you one gentleman who doesn't.

For two solid days last week, activity at the county treasurer's office was about the dandiest rat race you ever saw. Treasurer Harold Sullivan had only time to snort fire occasionally. His office telephone lay mute, off its cradle. His five harried aides desperately flipped through files, hammered typewriters, and cast an occasional eye at the never-diminishing line that serpentined out of the office door and out of sight around a corner and down the west stairway leading into the courthouse.

This was the power of the press, at work, Monday and Tuesday of last week. Sunday's Des Moines Register had told of the great likelihood that Congress would nullify the law that permits vehicle license fees as a federal income tax deduction. But TWO fees would be deductible on 1963 tax reports, the story stated.

Rush for plates starts

Then came the deluge!

When Monday dawned, the issuance of 1964 license plates was running somewhat behind a year ago. As the treasurer's office door opened at 8:00 a. m., there was no hint of the rush to come. A few leisurely license-seekers ambled in, paid their money, and claimed their plates.

But by 9:00 o'clock, it was beginning to be obvious that this was not going to be "just another day". The hallway began to clog. The line began to grow. And it was 5:30 p. m. before the last customer had been accommodated and Mr. Sullivan and his weary crew were able to call it a day. The day's "take" in plate fees came to $11,855.25.

Tuesday a whing-dinger

Tuesday morning, Dec. 31, a line of motorists already stood outside Sullivan's door when it was opened; and there wasn't a let-down until the last vehicle owner was taken care of about 4:30 p. m. In fact, the day wasn't even done then, for there still remained to be processed quite a pile of blank checks signed by customers-in-a-hurry who had not waited to take their plates with them.

Tuesday saw $21,376.75 in license fees pass through the windows at the treasurer's office — a very difinite record for the end of the year. In addition, it pushed the total number of plates sold to something like 600 more than had been issued by the end of 1962.

Number 2300 was the first to be sold on Monday. The last to cross the counter on Tuesday afternoon was 3427. That same number did not "go" until Jan. 9th, last year.

$1,200 from one customer

If the change of federal law actually does go through, a considerable savings was effected by some of the rush customers. For example, one Belmond firm that operates a fleet of trucks plunked out more than $1,200 to get new plates ahead of the year-end deadline.

This extraordinary development emphasized a problem that has been a very chronic one in Iowa county treasurers' offices for years, and which has been particularly bothersome since tax collections AND the number of cars licensed have reached the heights of recent years.

Mr. Sulivan regards it as nothing less than absurd that the treasurers should have to contend with peak business in both the tax collection and car licensing departments simultaneously. He has been carrying on a one-man campaign for some time to the end of obtaining legislation that would put car licensing on a fiscal year rather than a calendar year basis.

Later licensing would help

This would mean that vehicle licenses would be issuable each year starting one month in advance of the fiscal year's end on June 30th — or June 1st instead of Dec. 1st. Licenses would be delinquent after July 31, rather than Jan. 31.

For one year, it would be necessary to license for either a six-month or 18-month period to get on the new schedule. But that would seem easily arrangable — and would thereafter permit the county treasurers to split their heaviest work loads between two separate periods of the year.

As examples of how work in the office presently piles up during the September-April two-thirds of the year, whereas the other four months find office business at low ebb, Harold cites the following figures for the years of 1947, 1953 and 1956. They had been provided the late Clark McNeal in hope that he might stir some appropriate action in the General Assembly — but his untimely death interfered with this plan.

Summer months now "idle"

In 1947, tax collections in the busy eight months came to $1,169,511 — 96.84 per cent of the total; whereas in the other four months only 3.16 per cent or $38,247 came in.

This experience was repeated in 1953. September-April tax collections came to $1,736,343 or 95.95 per cent of the total and only 4.05 or $73,182 was received in the other four months. Correspondingly, 10,490 motor vehicle licenses (94.4 per cent) were issued during the busy period and only 622 (or 5.6 per cent) during the summer lull.

The year 1956 saw September-April tax collections come to $1,908,934 (96.28 per cent) and dwindle to $73,776 (or 3.72 per cent) during the remaining four months. During the busy eight months 10,975 vehicle licenses (95.92 per cent) were issued; and during the "off" months, 467 — or 4.08 per cent.

Clerical work done early

Although treasurer Sullivan now has his staff do as much of the clerical work involved in issuing vehicle licenses as possible during the summer lull, the situation nevertheless is a highly undesirable one.

If the two big jobs were split into two seasons of the year, Harold says, it would simplify hiring of competent, full-time help and be a great aid to efficiency in his and other treasurers' offices.

He admits that a few of his fellow treasurers frown on the proposal in fear that it might interfere with their arranging to take summer vacations when they most desire them.

Last such jam-up, Harold hopes

But since most of them now do the licensing clerical work in the summer, just as he does, he believes the licenses could simultaneously be sold without any undue work pile-up in the treasurer's office.

He still hopes that state legislation to the end he has suggested will before too long be forthcoming. Meanwhile, he's glad there is no likelihood of such an unexpected jam-up in his office as occurred last week being repeated. In this, he is devoutly joined by his exhausted staff.

NEW BELMOND
Film Highlights
—from—
COMING ATTRACTIONS

"The Young and the Brave," showing Thursday through Saturday, stars Rory Calhoun and William Bendix in the tale of a behind-the-lines patrol during the Korean conflict. Seven-year-old Manuel Padilla and his K-9 German Shepherd pal provide much of the drama in a compelling, hard-hitting story.

Vincent Price in what is described as "his most chilling portrayal of evil" will be displayed on the New Belmond screen in a midnight show Saturday, starting at 11:30 p. m. A thriller-diller in the best Price tradition.

Mr. and Mrs. (that'd be Joanne Woodward) Paul Newman have the help of Maurice Chevalier, Thelma Ritter and Eva Gabor in making "A New Kind of Love" a fresh, entertaining comedy. It's the feature for Sunday through Wednesday. Approximately a million dollars' worth of feminine clothes and accessories were used in filming — so if you like dainty duds, or them as wears 'em, this should keep you interested.
